Application area of this Data Protection Notice

The following information applies to electronically transmitted job applications which are sent to CLAAS in response to a corresponding advertisement of a vacancy or via the CLAAS career portal, and to documents and data transmitted to CLAAS in connection with talent retention. The information here applies to all the personal data of the applicant that become known during the job application procedure and talent retention (applicant data), especially to

- all personal data which are provided in the job application,
- all information which can be derived from the job application, relates to the user and is transmitted in connection with the job application,
- other third-party data (e.g. references from former employers) which are collected in connection with the job application.

* CLAAS Germany consists of CLAAS KGaA mbH, CLAAS Vertriebsgesellschaft mbH, CLAAS Selbstfahrende Erntemaschinen GmbH, CLAAS Global Sales GmbH, CLAAS Service and Parts GmbH, CLAAS Material Handling GmbH, all of which have their head office in Harsewinkel, CLAAS Industrietechnik GmbH whose head office is in Paderborn, CLAAS Saulgau GmbH whose head office is in Bad Saulgau, and CLAAS E-Systems KGaA mbH & Co KG whose head office is in Dissen.

Purpose of data processing

Your personal job application data will be collected and processed solely for the specific purpose of filling job vacancies in our company and retaining talent with the also here overriding purpose of justifying or continuing an employment contract. Your data will normally only be sent to the offices and technical departments which are responsible for the specific job application procedure inside the company. You can personally choose other uses with express permission for the purpose of filling other job vacancies and retaining talent in the online process.

The main legal basis here is Article 6 (1b) of the EU General Data Protection Regulation (GDPR) in conjunction with § 26 (1) of the German Federal Data Protection Act (BDSG). In accordance with Article 6 (1a) of the EU GDPR in conjunction with § 26 (2) of the German Federal Data Protection Act, consent can also be obtained as a permission standard complying with data protection law. If data processing is based on consent, you have a right of revocation at any time with effect for the future.

Use and transmission of personal data

Inside CLAAS, applicant data can only be accessed by authorized employees from the HR department of the CLAAS company, to which you apply, as well as by corresponding managers from the operating departments and, if necessary, the works council.

Access is limited to use during the personnel selection process and talent retention.

Applicant data will not be sent to other CLAAS companies or companies outside CLAAS, and will not be used for other purposes without your express consent.

If CLAAS is obliged by law or as a result of a court order to pass on your personal data, they will be transmitted to the offices entitled to receive information.

Applicant pool

If you also activate registration in our system for the applicant pool,

- all recruiters of CLAAS across the company can read your data,
- all recruiters can transmit your data across the company to managers at CLAAS,
- all recruiters can contact you in order to draw your attention to interesting offers.

You can deactivate registration for the applicant pool again at any time.

Talent retention – CLAAS Next Generation

Under certain conditions you have the possibility of being included in a talent retention programme. In this case your data and documents will be stored for up to two years. A separate consent process exists in this respect. You can then extend your participation in the programme by a further two years before the end of the retention period.

Retention period for applicant data

Your personal application data will normally be erased automatically six months after the end of the job application procedure. This does not apply if legal regulations do not permit erasure or continued storage is necessary as documentary evidence.

Before your data are erased, we will inform you so that you can make a decision and consent to your job application data being stored for a further six months in the system in order to take account of your data for further advertisements of vacancies.

You can remove your profile data in the career portal at any time by clicking the corresponding box "Delete registration". You thereby cancel all activated and incomplete job applications, also from promised application processes. Your profile will then be deleted after observing the above-mentioned periods.

Rights of data subjects

In accordance with valid data protection regulations, you have the right to receive information and the right of rectification, erasure and revocation of granted consent at any time with effect for the future. You also have the right to restrict data processing. You are also entitled to receive the data which you transmitted.

If you have any questions relating to collection, processing or use of your personal data, would you please contact the recruiter mentioned in the advertisement of a vacancy, the above-mentioned controller or the data protection officer.

You may personally erase your stored data by using the box "Delete registration" in the job application assistant for this purpose.

You also have the right to complain to the data protection supervisory authority.

After you have sent CLAAS your personal data, you can read these data at any time online and change them personally using the job application assistant. You can also send a message about your concern to CLAAS at any time. The contact person at CLAAS is the responsible recruiter shown in the respective advertisement of a vacancy.

Data security

CLAAS uses technical and organizational security measures to protect the data you provided against manipulation, loss, destruction or unauthorized access. The availability, confidentiality and integrity of your data are therefore guaranteed.

What aspects must be considered when transmitting information via the Internet?

The job application form, all information contained therein and all information which you provide to CLAAS during the application procedure and for participation in the CLAAS Next Generation programme are transmitted via the Internet.

In order to protect the data collected as part of your job application against manipulations and unauthorized access, your online job application is transmitted in encrypted form according to the latest state of the art.

Your data are stored following receipt by CLAAS on specially protected servers. These servers are protected by technical and organizational measures against loss, destruction, access, change or distribution of your data by unauthorized persons. Your stored data can only be accessed by a few authorized persons. These employees are responsible for the technical, commercial or editorial supervision of the servers. In spite of regular checks, however, total protection against all dangers is not possible.

Transfer of data to third countries

We do not intend to transfer your data to a third country.

If we transfer personal data to service providers and internal trading partners outside the EU, this transfer will only take place if the EU Commission confirmed that the third country has an appropriate data protection level or other suitable data protection guarantees or standard data protection clauses enacted by the EU were agreed.

Information for applicants under the age of 16

If you have not yet reached the age of 16, you must prove that consent for data processing was given by your holder of parental responsibility or with his/her approval. You can submit this proof by enclosing with your application documents a corresponding declaration signed by your holder of parental responsibility.

Supplementary regulations / general provisions

Our General Data Protection Regulation applies in addition to this Data Protection Notice for our career portal. You can find our General Data Protection Regulation on our homepage CLAAS.com.

Continuous development of Internet regulations necessitates changes to our data protection documents from time to time. We therefore reserve the right to make corresponding changes at any time.

Contact

If you have any problems, questions or suggestions, please contact the recruiter named in the advertisement of a vacancy. Further information in this respect can also be provided by the data protection officer at CLAAS.
